PROUD TO BE CARLISLE COUNTY OWNED AND OPERATED

Fiscal Court Discusses Possible Litigation in Birds Point Levee Explosion

By Michael Toon
Carlisle Weekly

The Carlisle County Fiscal Court met in regular session on April 24, 2012. The meeting began with the approval of the previous minutes and the ambulance report by Carlisle County Ambulance Director Wayne Floyd.

Floyd reported that the remounting of the current ambulance will cost no more than $75,000. The remounting on the ambulance will make the vehicle as if it is brand new and will restore all of the previous warranties that were on the ambulance. This is in comparison to the $140,000 that the county would have had to spend on a new ambulance. The fiscal court made a motion for Floyd to take action to arrange the remounting of the ambulance. The job will take 90-120 days to complete.

In the coroner's report Carlisle County Judge Executive Greg Terry reported that the legislature accommodated the funding for the Madisonville Autopsy Office. In the past it was to be believed that funding for that would be cut. However, the funding was allocated and after a new pathologist is found the Madisonville office will re-open. As of now patients have to be taken to Louisville for examination, putting extra costs on counties in the extreme western parts of Kentucky due to travel and hotel accommodations.

In the DES/Solid Waste report, Missy Rowland was in a meeting, but Judge Executive Terry said that bridge work at Bobby Yates Road on CR 1002 was set to begin soon, as will cleanup and repairs in the river bottoms.

In the river bottoms engineers, along with Judge Executive Terry, Road Foreman Jerry Bowman and Magistrates Sonny Pearson, Lloyd Presson and Burley Mathis, met with the people at the Army Corp of Engineers and will discuss what can be done concerning the river bottoms. Along with that, Judge Executive Terry reported that Carlisle County will be entering into litigation surrounding damages the sandy bottoms of Carlisle County took when the Birds Point Levee in New Madrid had to be blown due to flooding last year. Carlisle County is entering into the litigation, along with multiple counties in Missouri.

In the Carlisle County Jailers' Report Ronny Owens reported that there were four inmates in the Ballard County Detention Center and two in the Hickman County Detention Center.

In the road department report, road supervisor Jerry Bowman reported that a second opinion on the county's road grader is being sought after an initial estimate for repairs totaled $20,000. Carlisle County Judge Executive Greg Terry asked for the county's patience on road grading, as viable and more cost effective options were explored.

In the sheriff's report, Carlisle County Sheriff Steve Perry reported that the state legislature approved a $1.00 an hour raise for all courthouse security guards. Along with that, his quarterly report was approved.

In the 911 report, Carlisle County 911 Director Josh Glover reported that he will be named President of Public Communications Officials in Kentucky. His term will begin in September and he will be attending the national conference in Minnesota this year.

Glover reported that with Betsy Case graduating from the academy in Richmond, all Carlisle County 911 dispatchers were certified. Glover then requested that Case's pay be elevated to the standard the dispatchers are at when they complete their academy training. The fiscal court approved that pay increase.

In new business, the purchase of an enclosed trailer for the Carlisle County Court Clerk's Office was approved. It will not solely serve the clerk's office, but in time of elections it can serve as a backup mobile precinct in the event something happened to a machine at one of the county's voting areas.

The second reading of the budget amendment was approved, along with the Carlisle County Extension office Special District budget.

Judge Executive Terry updated the fiscal court in the county's pursuit of riding trails. Terry, along with Hickman County Judge Executive Greg Pruitt will meet on Wednesday with Matt Sawyers of the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife and see what obstacles the counties will and may face in establishing these proposed riding trails.

Terry also discussed with County Attorney Michael Hogancamp the possibility of establishing an ordinance for ATV usage on the trails for county residents and non-county residents.

Transfers and claims were approved, and Judge Executive Terry opened the floor to any business the public may have.

Geoffrey Newton was in attendance, and he asked about the possible extension of the Carlisle County Ballpark that was proposed and why there were surveyors near his land on Hillcrest. Newton asked why another ball field could not be built where the old shooting range was. Judge Executive Terry told Newton that the plans are in the beginning stage, and that there was a master plan that was drawn up where a road would cut through the old shooting sports area from HWY 62. Newton questioned the need to buy new property where there was property already there that could be used. Judge Executive Terry invited Newton and anyone else who would like to review the master plan to come by his office and he would be glad to discuss it.

Before adjournment, Carlisle County Court Clerk Gary Owens reported back his findings on CR 1940 that was in question if there had ever been any type of motion to officially close the road. Upon Gary and his wife Theresa's findings, he reported that CR 1940 was never officially closed despite maintenance ceasing on the road. Vicky Crider was in attendance and she added that 70 years ago there was a home on that road, but in the past 50 years of her family owning that property, there had never been road maintenance conducted by the county.

County Attorney Michael Hogancamp told the fiscal court that the petition that was filed by Lowell King be answered by stating the county, although it has not maintained the road, still has CR 1940 in its road system and no measures have been taken to take the road out of the road system. CR 1940 currently had a gate across its path established by the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife.

WEEKLY VOICES

From Father’s Heart To Yours By Ralph and Pamela Hale

POWER OF OUR WORDS

Let no corrupt communication proceed out of your mouth, but that which is good to the use of edifying, that it may minister grace unto the hearers. (Ephesians 4: 29)

As men of God it is our responsibility to lead our families and others into full spiritual maturity as well as seeing to all the other aspects of life. In this we should be about finding the gifts, anointing, and other good qualities in our children. These are to be nurtured, fed, and brought to full life by our help of teaching and edifying. We are to encourage the best to bring out what is hidden, to build up in such a way that our children have a desire for the right way and the good things of God.

The way we speak will have so much impact on our children. How often we find ourselves addressing the wrong we find more than the good we see. “There is that speaketh like the piercing of a sword: but the tongue of the wise is health.” (Proverbs 12: 18)

Those words we speak when in anger are like the piercing of a sword. How we deal with the wrong is often taken by our children as anger and hate toward them. They take it many times as a personal attack when in reality we are speaking about the wrong thing, not the person. We must be careful to distinguish between the two.

“A soft answer turneth away wrath: but grievous words stir up anger.”

(Proverbs 15:1) What about the times when we begin to get loud, and often times a shouting match will erupt, anger is boiling and trouble compounds. There are times when sternness, a firm voice, authority, and even loud may be needed. However, authority is not anger and anger at sin and wrong is not anger expressed toward a person.” “Father’s provoke not your children to anger, lest they be discouraged.” (Col.3: 21) “He that is slow to anger is better than the mighty; and he that ruleth His spirit than he that taketh a city.” (Proverbs 16:32)

Why do the things our children do wrong tend to trouble us so much? I believe it is because we can see the greatness in them and we want so desperately to see that greatness coming forth. Another thing is that we expect our children to be so different than all others that our disappointment is easily surfaced when they don’t measure up to the perfection that we think they are capable of. We must allow our children to be children. We must remember that the sin nature was born with our children and we cannot expect them to be more than we cultivate them to be.

There is a man in scripture called Barnabas. That name means “son of encouragement.” As we look at his life in the book of Acts we find that he was just that, an encourager. He did it with Paul, he did it at Antioch, and he did it with Mark. Let us, as men of God begin to seek to be encouragers. We do not compromise our faith or our expectations of greatness. We will however, be instrumental in cultivating those expectations with encouragement.

I know myself that I am always energized by encouragement from others, especially my wife and children. How do you suppose they respond when we encourage them? “Let us therefore follow after the things which make for peace, and things wherewith one may edify another.” (Romans 14: 19) After all doesn’t God encourage us with His words? Don’t we have hope, love, and faith by hearing what he has to say to us? Aren’t His promises the fuel that cultivates greatness in us as Men of God? Doesn’t His Spirit encourage and strengthen especially at times when it is needed most. How could we go on if we were not encouraged to do so by our Father in Heaven?

So Men of God, I encourage you to be mighty in the Lord. Believe that all things are possible and that you can do all things through Christ that strengthens you. Receive that in your spirit! Now impart the same to your household! After all, it’s all from the Father’s Heart to yours and theirs.

ONE PRESSON’S VIEW

By Kay Presson

Well folks, seems I’m not the only one having computer issues. I started typing this column both Saturday and Sunday afternoons and the computer simply froze on me. I finally had to write it long hand and I appreciate Michael Toon and his patience, as he has to type the article out for me.

In recent national news, the tantrum of a six-year-old Georgia girl was featured. That chold must have been throwing one horrible fit!

That broadcast brought back memories of my childhood of how my momma broke me from “throwing a fit”. We were living at the apartments at 109 Jefferson Street in Paducah, Kentucky. I was seven or eight years old and something or someone made me mad and I began to kick the wall, venting my anger and frustration.

Suddenly, I felt a stringing on the back of my legs. Momma had cut a switch and was teaching me not to continue. She told me, “Keep Kicking” and I did. However, every time I would stop, momma would whoop me with a switch. “Ouch, I’m tired, my feet hurt,” I said. You have learned not to kick the wall,” Momma said. She went on to tell me that when I get mad, sad, or glad write it or draw it out.

So folks, in a roundabout way, I began writing and drawing thanks to that moment. I would like to emphasize that I do not support child abuse. However, my mama was fair, yet stern.

Carlisle County Museum Still Needs Donations!

By Zane Teeters

Another segment of Carlisle County history gone!

Front Street of Bardwell has disappeared from the landscape forever! For those whose memories include Saturday when the sidewalks were full of people and stores were in abundance – no more!

A special thanks to Lorena Davis for her superb article on her memories of going to the various businesses and shopping with her grandmother and grandfather at Webb’s, Ben Franklin, Avis Graves Paint Store and the many other stores along Front Street. It brought back memories of long ago. All we have now are those and other memories.

We at the Carlisle County Museum and Library regret the loss of Front Street in Bardwell as much as anyone. However we began to preserve Carlisle County’s history over three years ago; not because we knew this day would come but because we knew that history was being lost even then. We looked around and could see much of our heritage and history had already faded and was no more than a memory.

Laketon is gone; Kirbyton is almost a ghost town; Milburn has lost most of its elegant past; Cunningham thrives in some ways but without any ties to its past. Bardwell and Arlington are but shadows of their former selves having lost most of their charm and uniqueness.

This is why we began our quest in 2008 to bring to Carlisle County a place where you could come and see how and what we were like in days past. Days when each community had its own school, when stores dotted the landscape in each town and people could fill their needs without having to travel great distances to provide for daily requirements.

For three years we were blessed with donations of items that show the greatness of our county; how people lived when cars were a rarity and each community was able to provide for almost every need.

A greater sense of joy was whenever a young person came into the museum. Some were young adults; some were students ranging from kindergarten to high school. They know very little if anything about their county and the people who made it the wonderful place it is. We knew success when we could speak with them and tell them about the many things accomplished by the people who lived here in the 1800’s and early 1900’s. To watch their faces as they learned of the many patents awarded to early residents; to show them that we have a NFL football player, a Major League baseball player, a movie actress, and show them tools and implements used back then, is a very special treat.

We were blessed with many visitors to our little piece of history. We believe that those that visited enjoyed themselves because many came back again and again – it is impossible to see everything in one trip. Plus we continued to receive items of historical value to place in the Museum for others to view. But we were more than a museum: we also have a library for everyone who loves to read. Even students came and checked out our offerings on various subjects so they could complete a school project or do their homework. And the books keep coming!

We began with approximately fifty books and by the time we were forced to close our doors we had almost six thousand cataloged and available for the public – no duplicates either. If you want a book by subject or author, we probably have it.

We, the Board of Directors of the Carlisle County Museum and Library, want to bring these and many more items out of storage and again have them available for you, the public! However, we need your help and we need it soon.

We are now placed in a position of asking for your help! If you can, please donate to the Museum and Library fund so that we may once again be open and serve Carlisle County. It can be any amount, we need every bit.

The bad news is that what we need is several thousands. Thousands, because to rent a suitable place requires a surety to the owner that we will be viable and pay utilities and rent for a reasonable amount of time and not move out quickly.

If we do not find a place to rent we would need to secure a piece of land and erect a building and buildings are not cheap, at least the size needed to house a museum and library.

We know of one place to rent which will allow us to have a bigger and better facility. Unfortunately, we lack the one thing necessary to make it happen – money!

We are hunting high and low for a grant but money is not available. Not at the state or federal level at this time. In order to raise funds we have written a cookbook and are selling them, along with two history books and a second cookbook. We have been fairly successful in raising money but not on the scale needed.

So this is why we need you to give us your support by donating money to our fund. If not money and you have an empty building and are willing to let us have that for a museum and library we’d be very appreciative and Carlisle County would have their museum and library again.

You may contact us by mail at P.O. Box 275, Bardwell, KY or by calling our treasurer “Peggy” Henshaw at 270-628-5421. And remember, we are a tax-free corporation which means you can claim your donation on your income tax form!

This week's inspiration
This week's inspiration from the sermon titled “Light for the Darkness” and scripture verses 1 John 1: 1-2:2: Light represents God’s righteousness and dark is its counterpart. With light, we walk according to God’s will and we can find ourselves in darkness when we walk according to our own will. Only God’s way leads to perfect peace. The light of self-righteousness blinds our eyes. God is always trying to show us His way even while living our own way. God is light and in Him is no darkness. Our sinful nature is our biggest flaw. We need to be honest about this. If we’re going to avoid the sinking effects of sin, we need to slow down and confess our sin. Confession leads us to second chances. Walking in the light is a recognition of things as they are.

Unusually Warm Spring Brings Threat of Termites

Springtime, with its warmer temperatures and more abundant rainfall, is typically when many winged termites emerge inside homes and other structures. Termites swarm from the colony to disburse, fall to the ground, find mates and start new colonies in the soil.

From now through May, you might see swarms of winged termites, called swarmers, inside your home, signaling an infestation that can cause extensive and costly damage. Since swarmers are attracted to light, you often see them, or their shed wings, around windows, doors and light fixtures. We also see winged ants in the springtime. By examining the insect you can learn whether it’s a termite or an ant. Termites have straight antennae; ants have elbowed antennae. Also, termites have uniform waists; ants have constricted waists between body regions. Termites have two pair of wings of equal size. Ants also have two pair of wings, but the forewings are longer than the hind wings.

Other signs of a termite infestation are pencil-thin mud “tubes” on inside and outside surfaces such as foundation walls, piers, sills and floor joists. Termites make these mud tunnels to travel between underground colonies and your home. Another sign of an infestation is damaged wood hollowed out along the grain with dried bits of mud or soil lining the feeding galleries.

Termite feeding, and resulting damage, can remain undetected in exposed wood because the outer surface usually is left intact.

You can reduce the risk of a termite attack by following these suggestions:

- Store wood off of the ground.
- Keep moisture from accumulating near the foundation.
- Reduce humidity in crawl spaces.
- Store firewood, lumber or other wood debris away from the foundation.
- Don’t store wood in the crawl space.
- Sparingly use decorative wood chips and mulch.
- Consider having your home treated by a professional pest control firm.

Many infestations result from direct contact between structural wood and the soil, which gives termites access to food, moisture, shelter and provides a hidden entry into your home. Make sure to have at least 6 inches between the ground level and wood siding, porch steps, latticework, door or window frames, posts and similar wooden elements. Contrary to popular belief, pressure-treated wood isn’t immune to infestation because termites will enter through cut ends or cracks and build tunnels over the surface to susceptible wood above.

Since termites are attracted to moisture, they are more likely to enter a structure when soil next to the foundation consistently is moist. So, divert water away from the foundation with properly functioning gutters, downspouts and splash blocks. Repair leaking faucets, water pipes and air conditioning units. Adjust the soil grade next to the foundation so that surface water drains away from the building, and adjust lawn sprinklers and irrigation systems to minimize water pooling near the foundation. Reduce humidity in crawl spaces by providing adequate ventilation. Don’t allow shrubbery and other vegetation to grow over vents; it will inhibit cross-ventilation. You can reduce crawl space moisture by installing four to six milliliter polyethylene sheeting over about 75 percent of the soil surface.

Firewood, lumber and other wood debris stored against the foundation or in crawl spaces, attract termites and provide a food source. This practice also gives termites a hidden entry into the home and allows them to bypass any existing termiticide soil barrier.

Cellulose-containing materials including mulch and wood chips attract termites. Use these materials sparingly, especially when you have other conditions conducive to termite problems. Never allow mulch to touch wood siding, door frames or window frames. Consider using crushed stone or pea gravel instead. These materials are less attractive to termites and can reduce other pests such as millipedes, pillbugs, earwings and crickets.

The best way to prevent termite infestations is to have your home treated by a professional pest control firm.

There are two general categories of termite treatment, liquids and baits. Liquid treatments are intended to provide an effective, long-lasting chemical barrier, which termites cannot breach, around and beneath your home. Termite baits are installed in plastic stations below the ground in the yard and occasionally indoors. Foraging termites consume the bait and share it with their nest-mates, resulting in a gradual decline in termite numbers.

What should you look for when choosing a pest control firm?

The firm should be licensed by the Kentucky Department of Agriculture. Membership in the Kentucky Pest Control Association and/or National Pest Control Association suggests the company is an established firm with access to the technical and training information necessary to correctly do the job. Consider calling at least two to three companies and asking for references. Avoid pest control firms that pressure you into immediately signing a contract with “specials” or scare tactics. Termiticides are extensively tested for adverse effects. Based on current research, registered termiticides present no significant hazard to humans, pets or the environment when applied according to label directions.

Award Winning Songwriter to Hold Workshop in Clinton

By Charlotte Smith
Hickman County Gazette
Special to the Weekly
Award winning songwriter Bobby Keel will be in Clinton on Saturday, May 5 conducting a workshop and concert. The workshop will take place from 3 to 5 p.m. and preregistration is required. The concert will follow beginning at 7 p.m. Both events will take place at the United Methodist Church's Young Center on US 51 in Clinton. The event, sponsored by the Hickman County Art Guild, is providing aspiring songwriters with an opportunity to have their original songs critiqued by a published and award winning songwriter. Charles Berryhill, who has been a member of the Nashville Songwriters Association International for the last two years, is excited about bringing this event to Clinton and Hickman County. "During the first hour of the workshop Keel is tentatively scheduled to do a seminar," stated Berryhill. "People can then play a song they have written and Keel will critique them." This will provide songwriters in the area a chance to receive feedback on their songwriting talents.

"Other chapters involved with the National Songwriters Association put on workshops and concerts like these on a regular basis," added Berryhill. "We have plans to have another workshop/concert in September." Berryhill has invited Verlon Thompson to the area on September 8. After Keel has conducted the workshop, he will give a live performance on his acoustic electric guitar with the sound system in the Young Center. Everyone who attends the concert will have an opportunity to listen to Keel, up close and personal. Keel has received 14 gold and 12 platinum awards from the R.I.A.A. for songs recorded by a variety of artists. Some of these artists include Hank Williams, Jr., David Allan Cole, Confederate Railroad, Travis Tritt, Merle Haggard, Willie Nelson, Freddie Powers, Albert King, The Carter Family, Johnny Rodgriguez, Moe Bandy and Joe Stampley, Tammy Wynette, McGuffy Lane, Tom Jones. The titles of his hits are: "Whiskey on Ice" recorded by Hank Jr., Travis Tritt, and Confederate Railroad, "Time off for Bad Behavior" recorded by David Allan Coe, and Confederate Railroad, and Mark Chesnutt, "Daddy's Honk Tonk" Recorded by Moe Bandy and Joe Stampley, "Bein' Gone" recorded by Tammy Wynette, "Where's the Love we Made" recorded by Tom Jones, If you got it by Albert King "Yankee Don't Go Home" recorded by The Carter Family and the Forester Sisters. He is known as "The Songwriter's Songwriter". Keel has been nominated for inclusion in the songwriter's hall of fame. There have been too numerous artists to list who have recorded Bobby Keel songs. Previous demo singers for Keel have included: Garth Brooks, Kathy Mattea and T. Graham Brown. Keel was also instrumental in discovering the Forester Sisters and helped them become a number one selling act on the Warner Brothers label. Cost for both the workshop and concert is a nominal $10 and to attend the concert is only $5. For more information and to preregister please call 270-254-1208 or 270-556-8565.
